LOOK OUT FOR FIRE!

To Theater Owners, Managers and Whom it May Concern:

This is to certify that I have equipped the Windsor Theater in this city with the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engines. After examining all other systems of fire protection and after repeated tests of the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engine, and upon the recommendation of the insurance underwriters, I have no hesitation in pronouncing it the cheapest and most powerful, as well as perfect, fire protection for theaters ever invented. In my opinion every theater and opera house in the United States, as well as Europe, should be equipped with these chemical fire engines, and thus save the loss of life and thousands of dollars in property.

Respectfully,
(Signed) M. I. GOLDY,
Owner Windsor Theater, Chicago, Ill.

See What a Practical Fireman Says

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 19, 1889.

To Whom it May Concern:

This is to certify that I, George A. Burbank, witnessed the exhibition of the Lindgren chemical engine test to-day, and as I have witnessed a great many such chemical tests in New York City, Boston, Mass., and other large cities in the East, I can say that this was the quickest and most satisfactory test, and was also pronounced so by two of our councilmen and all the citizens present, and I will also state that the time of applying the chemical was left entirely to me and I did not give the word until the fire was well started. So in other tests I have witnessed they have always put the chemical on the minute the fire was started and water would answer just as well, as there was nothing but the flame started and the wood not charred, and I take great pleasure in recommending the "Lindgren" as far superior to any other "Chemical" engine on the market.

HIS PLAN DONT SUIT.

Silver Men Will Not Support Windom's Policy.

BETTER MAIL SERVICE IN OREGON

Congressman Wilson Secures Several Things for His Constituents.

THE COMING WEEK IN CONGRESS

It is Reported That the Silcott Investigating Committee Will Decide the Government Must Make Good the Losses.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 15.—[Oregonian office, corner Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue.]—Your correspondent was informed to-night by one of the leading silver advocates that the silver men will give Secretary Windom's silver policy a careful and painstaking examination, but the general impression is that it will not be taken up by the silver men, and that the coinage committee will prepare a bill which will be entirely foreign to Mr. Windom's policy and will provide at least that $4,000,000 a month shall be the minimum coinage, or that free coinage will be proposed by the silver men. It has been practically determined by the silver men to have the coinage committee of one or the other houses present a bill covering mainly one or the other of the points suggested. They were to increase the minimum anyway, and if they find it practicable or possible, free coinage will be proposed. The silver men are raising the cry for more money as a reason for increased coinage and are preparing arguments to force their ideas upon the people. The sentiment first expressed by the silver men that Mr. Windom's plan was generally good and with few modifications would be supported by them, has now been changed, they say, upon further reflection, and that it does not go far enough and they will return to the old plan of increased coinage. They have been hearing from their constituents, they explain, and the sentiment of the people they represent is for the first plan rather than the compromise as they term it, proposed by Mr. Windom. Mr. Windom's plan will not be attacked at least by the republican silver men. They will merely favor a coinage bill and will not discuss the secretary's proposition at all.

Better Mail Facilities in Oregon.

The postmaster general, in response to a recommendation of Representative Hermann, has reestablished the post-office at Dilley in Washington county, Or., and appointed William M. McLeod as postmaster. The department has now under consideration the proposition recently argued by Mr. Hermann and represented by him to be of great interest to the people of Washington county and also Columbia county, Or., and which is the establishment of a tri-weekly mail service between Buxton and Verconia, a route now unsupplied, and then to increase the present mail service from St. Helens to Vernonia in Columbia county, and from Greenville in Washington county to Vernonia, to a tri-weekly service, the mails to arrive at the town of Vernonia in one and the same day from each of these terminal offices. This change in the mail service, Mr. Hermann asserts, will not only afford better communication with the rapidly increasing settlements back from the Columbia river, but also expedite the whole service in that region.

Mitchell's Passport Idea.

The bill introduced by Senator Mitchell restricting immigration compels every person visiting our shores to produce a passport in English, such as is required of travelers by foreign monarchs. The adoption of the certificate or passport plan of Senator Mitchell will exclude all political offenders from the United States, and all persons not in favor with the home government.

T. R. S. Ruck, jr., industrial agent at the Indian school at Neah bay, Washington, an Indian Commissioner Morgan says, will be removed for inefficiency, the change to date from December 15.

Representative Carter is, no doubt, booked for two committees in the house that will be important to his state. One is mines and mining, of which he may be chairman and the other is coinage, weights and measures.

Washington Matters.

Representative Wilson has secured the appointment of Fred S. Coburn as a copyist at $900 per year in the interior department. He is a resident of Clallam county, Washington.

Major J. R. Hayden, receiver of the Seattle land office, appointed by the present administration, has resigned and the Washington senators have a large number of applications for the place.

A new land district has been proposed in Washington, to be composed of Chehalis, Thurston, Mason, Lewis and Pierce counties. The bill has not been drawn but already there are candidates galore for the two offices.

Representative Wilson has applied at the post-office department to have the post offices of Cheney, Palouse, Puyallup, Snohomish and Whatcom made presidential offices and expects favorable action.

Representative Wilson has also asked the governor of Washington, to take some action looking to the placing of a tablet from that state in the Washington monument.

W. C. Wood has been appointed a mail clerk on the line of boats running between Seattle and Whatcom.

Congressional Forecast.

Congress this week will move for taking its usual Christmas vacation, and will adjourn, doubtless, from December 20 until January 6. Aside from action upon this subject, completion of committee organization, the further introduction of bills, and confirmation of the numerous recess appointments, there will probably be little to chronicle in the senate. Some means of permitting the immediate introduction of bills in the house will probably be sanctioned early this week, and a prodigious number of new and old measures now fill the pigeon holes of members, awaiting the opportunity. Speculation is also rife as to what modifications of the old rules will be recommended by the committee on rules, and as to whether any code of rules can be formulated by the committee before recess.

The People Must Pay.

It is reported that four of the seven members, or a majority of the committee engaged in the investigation on the defalcation in the sergeant-at-arms' office, have announced to members of the house their determination to vote for a report that the sergeant-at-arms is a disbursing officer of the government. This would throw the burden of loss from the members to the government.

The Indiana Contest.

The committee on elections in the house has already taken up the contest of Posey vs. Parrott, from the First district of Indiana, and would have been ready to report it to the house before the holiday recess had it not been for the absence of one or two members of the committee. It is understood that the case will be disposed of the first thing after the house reconvenes in January. Parrott, the sitting member will, it is thought, be unseated and Mr. Posey, the republican contestant, will be seated.

LOW NECKED DRESSES.

What Mrs. Dolph and Other Washington Society Ladies Think of Them.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—Now that the social season at the capital is about to begin the question of decollete dresses is being discussed quite generally. A number of the leading ladies of Washington have been interviewed and expressed their views on the subject.

Mrs. Harrison was asked: "Will you wear decollete dresses at state dinners and receptions?"

"No," was the reply.

"Do you disapprove?"

"I do not. I think it is a question every woman should decide for herself. I believe age, beauty, and health should decide the question for each woman, and no arbitrary rule should be laid down. Etiquette proper demands full dress for the White House receptions, and I shall conform to the rule as far as possible."

Mrs. Vice-President Morton, with the aid of her husband, stated that her afternoon dresses are cut high and her reception and dinner dresses decollete.

Mrs. Secretary Noble was decided in her views. "What do you mean by decollete," was her quick counter query to a question about decollete dresses. "If you mean a gown that shows a woman's bosom I think it immodest and indecent. But I approve of the use of the word as meaning a dress distinct from a house or street suit cut V shaped square, or rounded from shoulder to shoulder, but not outlining the bust. Such gowns I approve of and always wear to dinner and evening receptions."

Of the other ladies of the cabinet, Mrs. Windom, Mrs. Rusk, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Tracy and Mrs. Proctor will not wear them, and Mrs. Blaine and Mrs. Wanamaker will, although neither will affect the extremes of fashion in this regard.

Mrs. Dolph, of Oregon, has written her views on the question. Here is the letter:

"What is my opinion of decollette dresses? Well, in a general way I am in favor of them. There is, of course, no intrinsic harm in wearing them, but fashion can be carried to such a point that it offends good taste, and sometimes, I am sorry to say, even good breeding. Like most other things in this world, it is not objectionable if not immodest. When a lady has a pretty neck and shoulders the dressmaker is inclined sometimes to make dresses lower than her patron would desire, but it is indecorous to wear lower than good taste and the usages of good society dictates.

"AUGUSTA DOLPH."

A QUARTETTE OF MILLIONAIRES.

A Correspondent From the Capital Discusses Pacific Coast Senators.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—A Washington correspondent sends his paper the following concerning the United States senators from California and Nevada:

"Jones, of Nevada, is a rich mine-owner, who spends very little time in Washington. Stanford, of California, is easily the richest man here. He attends the sessions regularly, but is never heard in debate. He is a mute man, and unless it is that he finds it to his advantage to be on hand and watch his Pacific railroad interests, his presence in the senate is a difficult problem to solve. Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, is also very rich, and his wealth alone brought him to the senate. Mr. Hearst, of California, is enormously rich, and is much better known as the owner of a string of crack running horses than as a United States senator. He is rarely ever in his seat, and then merely as an observer. He contributes nothing whatever either to the debates or to the intellectual conferences of the committees. Their wealth is estimated as follows: Jones, $2,000,000; Stanford, $30,000,000; Stewart, $1,600,000; Hearst, $10,000,000."

MRS. SCOTT LORD'S DEATH.

The Event Will Not Affect Official Courtesies at the White House.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—It is thought the death of Mrs. Lord, Mrs. Harrison's sister, will not affect official courtesies at the White house, and it is safe to say that the usual programme for the winter will be very little changed and Mrs. Harrison, like Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Hayes, on like occasions, will not permit her private grief to interfere with her official duties as the wife of the chief executive of the nation. Mrs. Harrison will wear black, but will not go into crape, and on occasions of large receptions and state dinners will wear the dresses she had prepared for these events. It is possible that the Saturday afternoon levees will not be held at the White house during the coming season, or at least not until late in the year.

MRS. THURMAN VERY ILL.

The Publicity of Her Daughter's Domestic Affairs the Cause.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—Mrs. Judge Thurman has taken very much to heart the conduct of her daughter at San Diego, Cal. The wide publicity of the affair and Mrs. Cowles's marriage immediately after securing a divorce have so preyed upon Mrs. Thurman's mind that her condition is critical. The first news of the fact that her daughter's second husband is said to be a bigamist came to Columbus people on Friday. The Thurman family are afraid that should Mrs. Thurman hear of this last and worse news of all, the result might be serious. Allen Thurman has personally requested the daily papers not to publish it, no matter out of respect for the family, which is held in very high esteem here. None of them have printed anything about it. Judge Thurman takes the matter philosophically.

A TERRIBLE DISASTER.

Over Ten Tons of Glycerine Explodes and Sets Fire to 50,000 Barrels of Oil.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—Three separate glycerine magazines exploded this morning at North Clarendon, about seven miles above Warren. The amount of glycerine exploded was over ten tons. The explosion set fire to two 25,000-barrel tanks full of oil belonging to the National Transit Company. They are still burning and will be total losses. Several oil derricks and small wooden houses were also burned. Nearly every window in Clarendon was broken and much damage was done to surrounding property. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

FRANKLIN B. GOWEN'S SUICIDE.

Close Application to Business Had Unseated His Reason.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15.—The remains of Franklin B. Gowen, who committed suicide in Washington reached this city this morning, and were at once conveyed to his residence at Mount Airy, near Germantown. The funeral takes place Tuesday. It is said Mrs. Gowen told a close friend of the family that for two days previous to her husband's last visit to Washington she had noticed something strange in his conduct. It is thought by many here that the great lawyer's mind became unbalanced through too persistent application to business, and his suicide was due to this cause.

ARE THE YALE MEN AFRAID?

They Announce Their Intention to Row Only Against Harvard.

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—It appears from the following language that the Yale men are somewhat exclusive. The Cornell university eight have challenged Yale to a three-mile straightaway race at New London next June, and this is Yale's response: "In reply to your letter of December 3, asking us to arrange with Cornell for a boat race at New London next June, I would say that Yale intends hereafter to row with Harvard and with no other American universities."

BERNHARDT IN A NEW ROLE.

Great Preparations for Her First Appearance as a Virtuous Heroine.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—Sarah Bernhardt is making most elaborate preparations for her appearance as Joan of Arc. This will be the first great role of a virtuous heroine in which she has ever appeared. Gounod is now completing the music for the play, which is in three acts, each containing two scenes, successively representing the mission, triumph and martyrdom of the Maid, of Orleans. The last scene represents the funeral pyre at Rouen and is said to be the grandest effect ever placed on the French stage.

CABLE NOTES.

Massacre of Siberian Exiles.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Reports have been received here of the massacre of Siberian exiles. The alleged party of exiles having hesitated contrary to orders in regard to the withdrawal of a petition, were attacked by police and soldiers. Six were shot dead, including a young woman, and nine were wounded. A court-martial condemned those of the survivors to death and others to long terms of imprisonment. One of the wounded was carried to the gallows on a bed, when a noose was adjusted and the bed removed. Friends of the victims declare this to be the worst case in Siberian records.

Favorable to Catholicism.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The Chronicle's Rome correspondent says: Monsignor Satolli, in a long interview with the pope, gave an account of the good reception accorded him in America. He said he found the civil authorities willing to grant full liberty to Catholicism, and expressed his belief the Washington government is favorable to accrediting a diplomatic representative to the Vatican.

Browning Will Lie in Westminster Abbey.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Some questions having arisen as to the burial of Browning in Florence, the dean of Westminster has renewed his offer to have the remains of the poet placed in Westminster abbey, and it has been accepted.

THE THRONE TOTTERS.

London's Big Scandal May Cause a Revolution.

VICTORIA THE LAST MONARCH

Albert Victor, the Heir to the Scepter, Is Morally Debauched.

THE ENGLISH PEOPLE ARE AROUSED

Vices of Royalty May Prove a Blessing and Establish a Republic Upon the Wreck of the Monarchy.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—It is asserted that "the West End scandals," as they are called, may result in upsetting not only royalty in the kingdom, but also the rule of the privileged classes as well. In other words, that they will end in bringing about speedily a republic upon the ruins of the present monarchy and house of lords.

The fact that Prince Albert Victor, eldest son of the Prince of Wales, and therefore heir to the British throne, is connected with these scandals, either personally and criminally, as is freely charged, or as is officially admitted, by the connection with them of his intimate friends, of course make their political effect most momentous.

It is the opinion of practically every thoughtful man in the kingdom that when the scandals are fully inquired into by parliament and all the frightful details become public property, either Prince Albert Victor will be deprived of succession, a proceeding almost impossible of conjecture, or that Queen Victoria will be officially declared the last monarch of Great Britain, and that a republic will immediately succeed upon her death.

THE INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC.

No Less Than 100,000 Parisians Affected—The Disease Rampant in London.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—The annoying epidemic of influenza now prevailing here has attacked no less than 100,000 Parisians.

Two of the best known specialists of France have been interviewed regarding this curious malady. Dr. Albert Robin of the Academie de Medicine, expressed himself as follows: "This disease is known as influenza, or more commonly in French as LaGrippe. Five days ago I had my first case and since then I have treated at least twenty patients. Unquestionably the epidemic will continue to spread. How far, it is impossible to say. As to its cause medical science to-day is practically at a loss. We can, to be sure, tell the public that it is due to ravages of undiscovered microbe but the public takes only an indifferent interest in that fact. Why such an epidemic should sweep across Europe one year and then remain unknown for a decade is beyond our power to explain. The theory has been advanced that influenza is a forerunner of cholera but I regard that as pure nonsense."

Dr. Villemin, of the Academie de Medicine, was next seen. "It is almost too soon," he began, "to speak positively about the epidemic, which seems to be breaking out in Paris. It is generally assumed to be what we have been accustomed to call LaGrippe, and yesterday reading the accounts which have come from St. Petersburg I have been struck by the presence of one symptom, not usually observed in that disease. I refer to the appearance of red rash on the bodies of patients. Now, there is in Syria and other Eastern countries a very common fever known as La Dengue, which is accompanied by the presence of such a rash as is described. This fever has even reached westward as far as Constantinople, and I am disposed to believe that the St. Petersburg epidemic is nothing less than this Syrian La Dengue."

THE LONDONERS ARE SNEEZING TOO.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Londoners do not deny that influenza is now rampant in their midst, but are loth to admit that it is communicated by microbe, on the ground that none but the deadliest variety could exist here under the present conditions. Nervous people are beginning to prepare to receive cholera, while the inclinations grow stronger daily of a conner in handkerchiefs.

The influenza epidemic has attacked little King Alfonso, of Spain.

THE BRAZILIAN REVOLUTION.

Republicans Perfected Arrangements So That the Uprising Could Not Fail.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—The steamer Horrox arrived here to-day from Brazil. She left Rio Janeiro November 28. On the second day of the revolution a cipher dispatch was received announcing that there had been an uprising in Bahia, and that a fight had taken place between the militia and the imperialists, and 500 persons had been killed. After this the government at once stopped all cipher telegraphic communication and placed a strict watch on all ordinary messages. So complete were the arrangements of the republicans that when the republic was announced all of the imperial war vessels that for weeks had been lying in the harbor were so fixed that it was impossible for them to participate in any uprising that might possibly have occurred. Another rumor was one regarding the fate of eight naval officers who had refused to submit to the republicans. These officers secured a boat and rowed out upon the harbor, bearing aloft the imperial flag. A party of republicans gave chase, and it seems that shots were exchanged. The naval officers were captured and incarcerated in prison. None of the men had been seen up to the time the Horrox left, and the general belief is that they have been secretly shot while in prison, as the noise of the discharge of firearms had been heard in the prison the next day.

THE EX-PRIME MINISTER SPEAKS.

LISBON, Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—Visconnu Preto, the Brazilian imperial ex-prime minister, has re-issued a manifesto to the people of Brazil. He says it was impossible to crush the plotters, as the government could not rely upon either the officers or soldiers. When he was arrested and placed in prison, Preto declared that a platoon of soldiers was kept in readiness to shoot him if his friends offered armed resistance. In conclusion, the ex-prime minister appeals to the people to exercise their freedom of choice at the coming elections. He counsels his supporters not to surrender, but to vote for all his friends who may become candidates.

THE GOVERNMENT BECOMING ALARMED.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The Lisbon correspondent of the Times says: Advices from Rio Janeiro up to Nov. 28th state that even the local journals are threatened with suppression if they criticise or fail to approve of the new regime. Private letters brought by passengers or vessels from Brazil paint the situation in that country as rather alarming. The navy appears opposed to new government and many sailors have been imprisoned and shot for cheering for Dom Pedro. One report states that 150 sailors were shot, while other reports place the number at 15. Soldiers are also showing symptoms of discontent. Citizens are recovering their moral courage and are protesting against the military movement. The government has become alarmed and is massing its naval forces at Bahia.

SHE BROUGHT HIM TO TIME.

Prince Murat Accepts Miss Caldwell's Terms and They Will Be Married.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—[Special telegram.]—The announcement is made that Prince Murat has capitulated and that he and Miss Caldwell are soon to be married. Prince Murat has promised to be satisfied with whatever Miss Caldwell might see fit to allow him. In an interview he expressed much admiration for her independence of character, and said he was charmed to know that he had found a woman who knew enough to carefully look after her own interest. He knew, he said, that once wedded, Miss Caldwell would never permit her husband to be placed in any position regarding finances, that would prove embarrassing to him or would reflect upon her liberality in any way.

GLADSTONE'S FAILING STRENGTH.

He Will Concentrate It All for the Settlement of the Irish Question.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—Gladstone declines to accept the invitation to initiate the agitation looking to the establishment of a working day of eight hours. He says his time must be largely devoted to the settlement of the Irish question, and that for this reasons as well as on account of the infirmities of age, he must abstain from taking a leading part in the movement.

THE WEEK AT OLYMPIA

The Legislators Have Money and Are Indifferent.

A FEW BILLS PASSED LAST WEEK

The Irregular Sessions of the Legislature a Nuisance—No Large Appropriations Will Be Made for New State Institutions

OLYMPIA, Dec. 15.—The legislators don't care what happens now. They have drawn their mileage and their per diem for thirty days and are happy and prepared for the holidays. Each has received at least $150 and some who live in the remote eastern districts as high as $264. Mileage goes the state about $5000, and per diem for the thirty days, $18 750. Now the average legislator is looking forward to the holidays when he will be able to rest and reconnoiter at an expense of the dear people about $16,000. After the holidays he will be looking for the next pay day and what between pay days and holidays and windy discussions the state derives but little benefit.

LAST WEEK'S WORK.

Very little progress was made last week. Thirty two new bills were introduced in the house and 18 in the senate, making the total number introduced since the beginning of the session 157—100 in the house and 57 in the senate. During the week the house passed one senate bill and the senate three house bills. The house passed four of its own bills and the senate did not pass a bill of its own. The bills passed were these:

BY BOTH HOUSES.

By Representative Geoghegan—Providing the manner of the payment of members of the legislature.

By Senator Kinnear—Making it unlawful for public officers to use public money for private purposes.

By Representative Roach—To change the name of Sentez to Biloxia.

By Senator Fairweather—Appropriating $60'6 27 to pay the unpaid expenses of the constitutional convention.

By Representative Geoghegan—Fixing the salary of the reporter of the supreme court at $1500 a year, and prescribing his duties. The salary was originally fixed at $2000 but the senate opped off $500.

BY THE HOUSE.

By Roach—Appropriating $2100 for stationery for the legislature.

By Eddy—Authorizing the supreme court to hold sessions in the state house until better quarters are provided.

By Edens—Amending the law governing the construction of dykes and dams so that work of this kind may be undertaken by the county commissioners on the application of five persons, instead of ten, as the present law requires.

IRREGULAR SESSIONS A NUISANCE.

The interchange of business between the two houses is interfered with by the irregularity in their time of meeting. The house always meets in the morning but frequently holds no afternoon session while the senate always meets in the afternoon.

Business would be expedited if both houses would meet either in the morning or afternoon and be in session at the same time. Many favor holding one session a day, to begin at 9 A. M. and last until 2 P. M., the rest of the day to be devoted to committee work. Another plan is to hold a session from 1 P. M. to 5 P. M. and give up the morning hours to committee. Of the two the former is to be preferred. Committee work is more readily disposed of after a session than before one. The members must get up to be marked present at a session but there is no roll call at committee meetings and the inducement to roll out of bed these chilly mornings is not so great.

The present mode of procedure is very annoying to Governor Ferry. Between receiving members of the senate in the morning and members of the house in the afternoon, he has but little time to devote to executive business. The other day he had so many legislative visitors that he did not open a single one of the many letters which came to him. He will probably find it necessary to set aside the morning hours for visitors, and the afternoon for his own work.

GOVERNOR FERRY'S MESSAGE.

Governor Ferry thinks now that he will not send his supplementary message on finances to the legislature until after the holiday recess. The finding of the territorial auditor's report has been so slow that he thinks he will not be able to draft his message before the legislature adjourns. During the recess he will confer with the state auditor and the state treasurer and avail himself of their knowledge of the state's finances.

NO MONEY FOR INSTITUTIONS.

The agricorrespondents of some of the Sound papers have been making colossal estimates of the prospective appropriations of the legislature, and with their minds on the almost empty treasury ask in holy horror "Where is all the money to come from?" One paper estimates was $700,000, which included $10 000 for the institution and $40,000 for that and so on down the list.

There is no cause for worry. No appropriations will be made for institutions for which the general government donated lands. That is the policy of Governor Ferry and a majority of the members of the legislature. The governor thinks that when the state establishes a soldiers home or a reform school or a state agricultural college it should put up buildings which would be a credit to the state for half a century, not shanties which would be found inadequate within a few years. The appropriations asked in many of the bills for these institutions would not put in a respectable foundation, and the work would be held in abeyance until further appropriations would be made.

THE LAST SAD RITES.

Impressive Memorial Services for Dr Minor, G M Haller and F Louis Cox

SEATTLE, Dec 15.—[Special Telegram.]—The memorial services held to-day in memory of the death of Dr Minor G M Haller and F Louis Cox who lost their lives by drowning Monday December 2 were the most impressive and demonstrative ever witnessed in this city. The suddenness of their deaths and the heartrending tales told of their last hours by parties who heard their cries for help and the fact of the bodies not being recovered, added pathetically to the grief and mourning.

Last evening the boats and trains brought in large delegations from different points on the Sound who were joined to-day by members of the legislature from Olympia the militia from Tacoma and civic and militia delegations from all parts of the state and Oregon. A process on was formed at early after noon on Washington street and at 1 30 P. M. sharp to the strains of martial music and beat of muffled drum it moved up South Third to Second which street was lined along the line of march by thousands of sympathizing citizens who crowded the sidewalks and sides of the street and filled every window and the top of the buildings in their efforts to secure a good position from which to view the sad funeral request. It was an affecting sight every man who took part in the demonstration and every citizen who witness it seem ingly considering it a personal bereavement and many tears were shed. There were over 1 500 men in the line in carriages. When the head of the procession reached the armory the rear had not yet entered Second street the distance between the two points being over seven blocks. Following was the order of the procession:

First division—Mounted police. First regiment band. Colonel Haines and staff companies B C D and E of the First regiment. Grand Army of the Republic members of the medical profession members of the bar, officers of the day, state and city and county officials.

Second division—John Cotta's band, Knights Templar Uniform Rank K. of P. fire department, Mason societies, Knights of Pythias, other civic societies, citizens and carriages.

The armory was filled to overflowing immediately after the procession reached it there being fully 3000 in the building which was draped in the deepest mourning. The services were most pathetic and impressive.

Judge H G Struve made a few eloquent opening remarks, referring freely to the calamity that had befallen the esteemed gentlemen.

The oration delivered by ex Chief Justice Hanford, was an eloquent eulogium and seemed to reach the hearts of his hearers, as many tears were shed during the delivery.

After the reading of a resolution by Mr Alfred Holman the audience joined with the choir in singing "Nearer my God to Thee," which ended the services.

"JEFF DAVIS A SAINT"

For Making This Assertion a Southern Californian Is Shot.

POMONA, Cal. Dec. 14.—[Special Telegram.]—Two bosom friends Ira Schuyler and Henry Phillipson the former a Union veteran, and the latter a Confederate became involved in an argument yesterday, concerning the peace of Jeff Davis in history. Hot words and anger followed the argument, until Phillipson said he believed Jeff Davis was a saint in heaven, while Lincoln and Grant were stokers in hell. At this, Schuyler became enraged, and drawing a revolver shot Phillipson in the fleshy part of the leg. Schuyler recovered from his anger at once, and endeavored to do everything possible to make his victim easy. He drove several miles for a doctor and helped in probing for the bullet which was easily extracted. The affair will not be brought into court as Schuyler has agreed to pay the doctor's bill and $50 for Phillipson's loss of time.

Personal.

SAN FRANCISCO Dec. 15.—[special Telegram.]—E P McCormack of Portland, and J T McNaught, of Seattle are here.

Mrs Mary P Logan and her niece Miss Jessie Bass of Salem arrived here Friday and expect to spend the winter in California.

Kar Formes, the well known baritone singer and music instructor, died to-day in his 58th year.

Clarence W. Simpson of Portland passed through here this week, enroute to Denver, where he goes to accept a position under his brother, Grover Simpson, who is agent for Wells Fargo & Co there.

J K Stateler, local passenger agent of the Northern Pacific has been appointed by General R A Alger commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, to the position of inspector general of the grand army for the department of California.

SAN FRANCISCO Dec 15.—[Special Telegram.]—The Occidental Club has matched Tom Cleary and Pete McCoy to fight in February at catch weights for a purse of $1000.

The Bostons and Stocktons played a closely contested game of baseball at the Haight street grounds this afternoon the former winning by a score of 5 to 4.

At Harbor View park to day Adolph Strecker broke the world's record for ring target shooting making 454 points out of a possible 500, with twenty shots twenty points each.

SAN JOSE CAL Dec 15.—Charles Swanson of this city and J V McNamara of Salinas, were to-day matched to fight in the rooms of the Salinas Athletic Association New Year's eve for a purse of $450.

The Lone Highwayman

NEVADA Cal Dec. 15.—The stage from Downieville was held up this afternoon four miles above here by one man who made the driver and two of the passengers dismount. The third passenger escaped into the woods. A freight wagon then came along, and two men who were on it were made to alight and join the other prisoners. The sum of $140 was taken from Joe Ferr, of Sierra City and $8 from F Bank of San Juan. Five packages of registered mail were also taken. The robber attempted to break the express box but failed.

Trains Delayed by Washouts

LOS ANGELES Dec 15.—Trains on the Southern Pacific due from San Francisco this morning and this afternoon have not arrived at a late hour to night. The delay is caused by a washout near Lang's. The train for San Francisco which left here late last night returned this morning bringing the passengers of one of the tied up trains. It is reported that the train from the North due this morning went into a washout at Lang's and two Pullmans jumped the track. No passengers were injured.

THE CHEROKEE LANDS

Chief Mayes and Tribe Will Have to Give Other Indians Hunting Grounds.

KANSAS CITY Mo, Dec 15.—The act under which the Cherokee commission has been negotiating for the purchase of the Cherokee outlet by the United States government permits them to arrange in the event of a failure to effect the purchase for the removal of the other Indians from their reservation in Indian territory to the Cherokee nation as provided in Article 15 of the treaty of 1866. The commission has construed that it is useless to carry further negotiations with the Cherokees for the purchase of the lands and are now arranging for the removal of the other Indians to the unoccupied Cherokee lands.

The commission will notify Chief Mayes of this decision and will ask him to file his objections in the president's office, if he has any. The matter is left entirely with the president, and if he considers the objections invalid he may order the removal of the Indians as indicated whenever he desires after the latter have sold their lands to the government and signified their willingness to move. Of the Indians who have ratified such willingness there are Sacs and Foxes, Cheyennes Arapahoes, Wichitas Comanches, Kansas Otters Shawnees Miamis, Kickapoos, Ponicas and Pawnees. Accommodation for most of these tribes can be found on Cherokee lands. As soon as they can be removed thither their reservations will be opened to settlement, and almost as much land will be thrown open to the public as would have been available had the commission succeeded in purchasing the Cherokee lands.

LEGISLATIVE CORRUPTION.

Missouri State Senators Accused of Selling Their Votes.

ST LOUIS Dec 15.—The Post Dispatch prints an expose of alleged legislative corruption at Jefferson City Mo. It claims that the livestock inspection bill, introduced by the St Louis Butchers Union in the last legislature was defeated by the absolute purchase of state senators. The matter is detailed at great length and the bold charge is made that the "dressed beef monopoly" secured the defeat of the bill by spending more money than the butchers had. They spent it on senators who voted against the measure. The bill was one which provided that no beef should be sold in the state of Missouri unless it had been inspected on the hoof. It was a fight between the butchers and the dressed beef combine and the latter won. Three of the state senators whose names are mixed up in the affair were interviewed but denied that there was any foundation for the boodle story.

TALMAGE'S CHURCH ORGAN.

It Will Combine Musical Effects Altogether Novel and Contain 5078 Pipes.

NEW YORK Dec 15.—[Special Telegram.]—The organ for Talmage's new tabernacle has been selected. The plan really combines five organs in one. The couplers are so arranged that tones of the bagpipes, the swell of a brass band and the vibration of most melodious stringed instruments may be blended under the skilled touch of the organist, in harmonious accord with the bass and the long roll of drums. The drums will be the largest in use, the beating action of the drum being arranged by a pneumatic motor of a duplex order. The organ's compass is from CC to C five octaves. The grand instrument will have 7196 stops. There will be 5078 pipes in all. The organ will be finished and in readiness for use at the opening of the new tabernacle about September 1, 1890.

SPRAGUE IS GROWING, TOO

A Fine System of Water Works Just Completed—The Electric Light Company.

SPRAGUE Wash Dec 14.—This city is now enjoying a veritable boom. Several large transfers of real estate have been made the present week and others are in the throes of negotiation. Merchants and business men generally were never more encouraged as they are enjoying an unusually heavy fall trade, while the future never looked more brightly.

The system of water works is now complete, and was tested the other day to the entire satisfaction of the company and city. There are twenty five fire hydrants and most of the business and residence buildings will be connected with the mains. The supply of pure water is now unlimited and the citizens are making great calculations upon beautifying their front yards next season by the growing of grasses and shrubbery which has heretofore been made too laborious by the old fashioned pump method of obtaining water for the purposes of irrigation.

The Spokane Electric Light Company now has its poles up wires stretched thereon and connection made with all the public houses and a large proportion of the private dwellings. The engine with which to furnish the power is delayed on the road from the East or the city would have been illuminated ere this. The streets will be lighted with arc are lamps of 2000 candle power each. In addition to these about 400 incandescent lights will be in use throughout the city.

The creamery has just closed down after a profitable season's business.

An addition to the city has recently been platted just east of the Northern Pacific railroad shops and the lots are going like hot cakes.

The enormous amount of business here has made it necessary for the Northern Pacific company to materially increase their yard room and large gangs of men are now engaged in putting in over two miles of additional side tracks.

The work of grading two of the principal streets is now completed and they are as hard and smooth as pavement.

At the last meeting of the city council a committee composed of three of its members and two gentlemen not members was appointed for the purpose of taking steps toward making Sprague's advantages and resources better known to the outside world.

NOT ABLE TO AGREE

The Cronin Jury Still in Close Confinement.

ONE MAN HOLDING FOR ACQUITTAL

Judge McConnell Thinks Some of the Jurors Are Religious and Did Not Consider the Case Yesterday.

CHICAGO Dec 15.—Another day of deliberation has passed without bringing any verdict from the Cronin jury. At 9 30 this afternoon Judge McConnell left the courtroom stating that he would again be on hand to receive any return the jury might have to make at 10 o'clock on Monday morning. The only instructions he gave were that in case the jury arrived at a verdict during the night the bailiff might conduct them to a hotel but that the verdict would not be received by the court until to morrow morning.

Rumors of all kinds have been afloat to day and to night. However as one says it maybe the public appears to have hastily arrived at the conclusion that there is to be a disagreement of the jury and that the old attempts at jury bribing have in some mysterious way proven successful. The statement that John Culver, of Evanston a Presbyterian and one of the most respected citizens in the community is the disagreeing juror has however tended to shake this conclusion and the more conservative are contented to await further results before condemning anybody. It is quite possible that Culver's obstinacy may apply only to some minor point in the case, or to the guilt of Kunze and Beggs although the reports most current are that he is voting no on the broad question of the guilt of the prisoners as a body. The state's attorney and conservative citizens generally deprecate the severe strictures made by the local papers upon Culver as a supposed obstinate and no man in the city is probably more sanguine of ultimate agreement than the public prosecutor himself.

JUDGE MCCONNELL'S VIEWS.

An Associated Press representative called upon Judge McConnell this afternoon, and questioned him regarding the reported status of the jury.

"I have had no intimation" said his honor "that the jury thinks it will be unable to agree and I am of the opinion that the verdict will be ultimately reached and I did not expect any verdict, even if reached, would be turned in to-day. It is, in fact doubtful whether the jury is considering the case at all to day. Most of its members are religious men and members of some church and it is altogether likely that if any particular must demurred at considering a matter to day the jury would at once acquiesce in his scruples and postpone further deliberation until to morrow."

You do not share him, in the belief that there will be a disagreement?

"I do not. I feel quite confident that the jury will agree in time. There is no good reason for this hasty conclusion as to disagreement. There are thousands of instances where juries have been out much longer than this, and yet finally agreed upon a satisfactory verdict."

In case of the disagreement of the jury will the case be tried again before you or can the defendants take a change of venue out of the county?

"The defendants can, by the customary affidavits take a change of venue from ten consecutive judges, and I presume succeed in having it taken out of the county. There are five defendants and each defendant can twice have the opportunity of demanding a change of venue so that a change could be successfully taken from ten judges."

What county would these changes of venue probably take the case to eventually?"

Likely to Lake or DuPage county they being the nearest counties to Cook. Remember in answering these questions I am not attempting to predict what the defendants attorney would do but simply what they could do under the law by availing themselves of all its provisions."

It is stated you intend to keep the jury out until they do agree in this case a week or two if necessary. Is such your intention?

"Of course it would be improper for me to state at this time my intentions, even if I could anticipate the causes which might lead to such a determination. It must be borne in mind however, that the court must necessarily exercise discretion in such a matter as that. The supreme court may have to pass upon this case. Dropping the Cronin case altogether, I will illustrate with an imaginary case. Suppose we have a case where eleven men are agreed upon the question of the guilt of a defendant, and the twelfth balks even in his innocence. That jury we will say is kept out two or three days and the status of the opinion is the same one man still holding out against eleven. Suppose then that the judge should order them out individually after they had stated their inability to agree and ultimately force them to a verdict eleven men all the time arguing with remonstrating with and chiding the twelfth. Suppose in that the case should go to the supreme court, and that the twelfth man should come forward and state that he had been coerced and worried by his fellows into an agreement against his better judgment and that it was only under the stress of mental anxiety or anguish that he had consented to a verdict. In such a case do you doubt that the supreme court would invalidate that verdict and order a new trial? Of course the jury should be given ample time and every opportunity to agree but the demarcation between a deliberate conclusion and coercive verdict should be clearly drawn. The law does not contemplate an inquisition to extort judgment from the mind of a juror."

Have you received any request from the jury for special instructions since their retirement?

"I have not. I have never been in the jury room and indeed I have no right to enter it. Should they request my fuller interpretation of any instruction which the court has given them they can only request it formally when it is the duty of the court to call them into court and there in the presence of the defendants and their attorneys interpret to the jury's satisfaction the law applying to the evidence. No such request has been made and no reading of the record or the evidence has been asked for."

A TALK WITH MRS. CULVER.

EVANSTON, Ills Dec. 15.—A representative of the Associated Press called to-night at the home of John Culver the supposed objecting juror in the Cronin case and had an interview with his wife who has been charged in the Chicago papers with having had a secret and presumably improper conversation with her husband before the jury retired. The family is greatly agitated over the reports in the papers. Mrs Culver told of her actions on Friday, saying also sent her son down town in the morning to tell Bailiff Santa whom she knew well that she would not take dinner with her husband as she had been accustomed to do. In the afternoon when she saw her husband the bailiff stood right beside them and hear every word they said. She only spoke of not having come down to dinner, etc. She did not desire or to hold any private conversation with her husband. In regard to the insinuation that her husband had Satan behind she said she had never spoken to any agent of the defense and never had any conversation with her husband which she would hesitate to make public.

"I do not believe," she added "there is a man on earth who can drive Mr Culver. I do not know his position in the case. I do know that my son and my husband's partner met State's Attorney Longene her to night and that gentleman expressed himself confident of my husband's integrity. Gentlemen I am determined that and if he believed he was right he would stick out in spite of the whole world."

A MOTHER'S LOVE.

Searching the Forest All Night Long for Her Lost Child.

Gold Beach Gazette

A little child of Johannes Fromm who resides on Mussie creek, aged about two and a half years, was lost in the woods for about twenty four hours recently. The mother having occasion to go away from the house for a short time, left the child playing in the yard securely fastened in as she supposed but on her return it was missing, having crawled through the fence where a picket was off. The anxious mother immediately commenced a search, which she kept up unceasingly and during the entire night, solitary and alone, she traveled through the timber and brush calling on the name of her little one without receiving response. The next day she hurried to the neighbors, and all the men at work on the road as well as others were soon engaged in the search, and the little fellow was found a half mile from the house, lying fast asleep. The night was one of the coldest of the season and it must have suffered terribly from cold. Although in a very exhausted condition no serious result has followed the night's tramp to either mother or child.

LETTER FROM A CLERGYMAN

Grateful Acknowledgment of Cures by the Cuticura Remedies.

A minister and his little boy cured of obstinate skin diseases by the Cuticura Remedies. Praises them everywhere—in the pulpit, home, and the street.

For about fifteen years I have been troubled with eczema or some other cutaneous disease which all remedies failed to cure. Hearing of the CUTICURA REMEDIES I resolved to give them a trial and purchased one box of CUTICURA RESOLVENT one box of CUTICURA and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP. I followed the directions carefully, and it affords me much pleasure to say that before using two boxes of the CUTICURA four cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT I was entirely cured.

In addition to my own case my baby boy then about five months old was suffering with what I supposed to be the same disease as mine to such an extent that his head was coated over with a solid scab from which there was a constant flow of pus which was sickening to look upon, besides preventing him from sleeping. I also applied the CUTICURA REMEDIES to the back of his head. Thanks to you and your wonderful CUTICURA REMEDIES, his scalp is perfectly well and the hair on his head has been restored so that there is only one little place by his left ear, and that is healing nicely. Instead of resembling snakes, he has a fine coat of hair much better than that which was destroyed by the disease. I would that the whole world of sufferers from skin and blood diseases knew the value of your CUTICURA REMEDIES as I do.

The CUTICURA SOAP and CUTICURA RESOLVENT are each worth ten times the price at which they are sold. I have never used any other toilet soap in my house since I bought the first cake of your CUTICURA SOAP. I would be inhuman as well as ungrateful should I fail to speak well of and recommend your CUTICURA REMEDIES to every sufferer who came in my reach. I have spoken of it, and shall continue to speak of it from the pulpit, in the homes and in the streets. Praying that you may live long and do others the same amount of good you have done me and my child, I remain yours gratefully, (REV) C M MANNING, Scene—First Dinner to the Family Physician by Young Married Couple.

FAMILY PHYSICIAN—Do you know, there seems to be a natural flavor about the food that is most appetizing? What method do you use in cooking it?

LADY OF THE HOUSE—Well, Doctor, when I was at home, my mother would have no other than a Charter Oak Stove. From my earliest recollection I remember hearing the highest praise it and cooking was superb. So when we were married I insisted on having the same kind of stove. Of course the improvements made on them since my mother bought hers, are most wonderful. Ours has all the latest, including the Wire Gauze Oven Doors. I don't understand the process exactly, but they tell me that all meats cooked in ovens with these doors, retain their juices and flavors to a much greater degree than by any other means. Can you explain the theory, Charles?

CHARLES (the Husband)—I can't remember all that was told me, but I know the Doctor can give a most clear and scientific statement of the reasons; can you not Doctor?

DOCTOR—Well, as I rarely get a chance to ask such information from a doctor, in fact, I am inclined to think he would not be helping his practice much by saying anything in favor of the Charter Oak Stoves. But as I have one in my kitchen, and know something about it, I think I can enlighten you. Of course it would take quite a long lecture to explain everything to you scientifically, and we have not time for that. Count Rumford, an American, who was knighted in Europe for his scientific attainments, pointed out, nearly a hundred years ago, that baking and roasting meats by the old fashioned way was wrong, and he proved it by actual experiment. He asserted that it was as essential to health that our food should be cooked in pure, fresh air as that we should breathe pure

ASTORIA

By reason of its location, being the gateway to the Pacific Ocean, is now recognized as the best point on the Columbia River for the building of a manufacturing and commercial city. All points are tributary to it, and surrounded as it is by wonderful and heretofore unheard of wealth producing elements, it is just as natural that Astoria become a city as that the waters of the Columbia River connect with the Ocean.

The Railway addition to Astoria is a superb body of land, embracing 40 acres, adjoining the city of Astoria on the southern slope, and from its excellent location and the magnificent views to be obtained from every quarter, is destined to become the finest business and residence portion of the city. The tract is now laid out in blocks of 24 lots each, and the numerous inquiries already made about this property show that it will not be long in the market.

A MOTOR LINE

Will be in operation at an early day, the company being already formed with a capital of $200,000, the franchise obtained, and, according to the survey, will go through the railway addition to Astoria. At or near this point will be the terminus of a transcontinental road. In fact, its very location shows that this is the best point for investment, property in this location having trebled in value during the last three months and is steadily increasing. Get in now before the boom and treble your money. Lots in this addition will be placed on the market at the nominal price of $60 for inside lots and $70 for corners, and will positively advance in price the first day of January, 1890. Get your application in early, as there is only a limited quantity for sale. This property will be placed on the market Wednesday next, Dec. 18.

OREGONIANA

A teachers institute for the second judicial district will be held in Corvallis Benton county commencing on Thursday December 26, and will continue until Saturday evening

The Oregon Preacher the religious publication issued by Rev W D Humphrey at Albany has ceased publication Mr Humphrey by his quiet and gentlemanly demeanor has made many friends in this state He contemplates removing to California

Plutarch Lewis, the young man arrested in California on a charge of holding up a stagecoach Southern Oregon has been a resident of Corvallis nearly all his life, and is a barber He still strongly protests his innocence and declares his ability to prove it.

The pesky little weevil is said to be getting in its destructive work on wheat stored in various warehouses throughout Polk county says the Observer Verily the average warehouseman is engaged in a big game of chance—a chance for him to come out several thousand bushels of grain short through weevil, shrinkage etc

The members of the Ladies Aid Society of Albany are considering a plan for the building of an orphan's home in Albany They propose to erect a creditable building to be conducted by the society as a public institution giving aid to orphan children and employment to the destitute and in need The proposition is a good one and should meet with success

An old Oregon pioneer now residing in Pendleton, tells of a curious relic which was discovered in 1851, and may still be seen, at a point near Grant's Pass, in the Rogue River valley It is a cast-iron wheel weighing possibly 250 pounds, which is lying underneath a tree enclosed by a dense growth of vegetation How it came there is not known.

Levi Buchner is in jail at Albany to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of larceny by bailee Buchner, who bears an unenviable reputation, had taken thirty two head of cattle to pasture They were owned by J D Hyatt & Son and Wm R. Hyatt of Mehama Buchner, who sailed for some time under an alias of Frank Taylor and was fined $400 in the circuit court of Linn county for bigamy sold and butchered six to of the thirty two head The rest of them have been recovered. Albany Herald.

WASHINGTONIANA

Senator Squire has presented Seattle with a handsome flag bearing the forty two stars It will be first unfurled to day at half mast out of respect to the memory of Dr Minor G Morris Haller and Louis Cox

One who claims to have been an inmate of the Steilacoom asylum writes THE OREGONIAN regarding mistreatment of patients there He alleges that the keepers are cruel that the food given the patients is often unfit to eat, that he has seen patients pulled around by the hair of the head and often sent to bed with no supper 'If the trustees doubt this," says the writer, let them go there and play patient awhile" Has not Washington some Nelly Bly" who will invest gate these charges and let the world know the truth?

The Walla Walla Statesman states that Judge Guthard, ex probate judge of that county says every patient sent by him to the territorial asylum, were upon their return effusive with gratitude for the kind and generous treatment they had received and in many instances requested him to write to the superintendent to express the gratitude they felt. Many patients, he said who had returned cured to show their appreciation of the kindness they met with there, sent annually small presents, such as fruit, etc Dr W Eagan present probate judge followed in a similar strain, and mentioned the names of several discharged patients who reported to him upon their return, for no other purpose than to show their gratitude for the universal kindness they had ever met with there

CORVALLIS BOARD OF TRADE.

Steps Taken to Encourage the Building of Railroad to Brownsville.

CORVALLIS—Dec 14 Pursuant to call the Board of Trade and other citizens of Corvallis met in the parlor of Hamilton, Job & Co's bank. Chairman Wagoner stated in brief that the object of the meeting was for the purpose of discussing and formulating plans that would lead to the general welfare of Corvallis but more particularly to take the initial steps to encourage the building of a branch of the Oregon Pacific railroad from this point to Brownsville, for the construction of a water ditch for manufacturing purposes and for the building of a bridge across the Willamette In regard to the road between here and Brownsville, Chairman Wagoner stated that he had had an interview with officials of the Oregon Pacific railroad and although no definite propositions had been made, they seemed to look upon the project with favor The following resolution was then presented and read

WHEREAS It is shown that the Oregon Pacific Railroad Company have under consideration the building of a branch railroad from this place to Brownsville, Linn county, and that said road would be of great benefit to this city and county therefore be it

Resolved, That the citizens of Corvallis fully appreciating the value of this enterprise will encourage it by giving substantial aid thereto and that a committee of three be appointed by the chairman of this meeting to confer with the officials of the Oregon Pacific Railroad Company and also with the citizens of Brownsville with instructions to report as soon as the disposition of railroad company in the premises can be ascertained

The resolution was unanimously adopted, and on motion, Chairman Wagoner was appointed chairman of said committee and instructed to name the other two The naming of the committee he took under consideration

It was voted that three committees be appointed consisting of three members each to take into consideration the proposed public improvements to-wit the building of a railroad between this point and Junction City or Eugene, the construction of a water ditch to this city for manufacturing purposes and the building of a bridge across the Willamette

Committee on railroads—Dr J C H Lee W A Wells and J H Nicholas

Committee on water ditch—J R Bryson P Avery and L W Wilson

Committee on bridge—John Burnett Zephin Job and Dr G R Furrey

J R Bryson then addressed the meeting in an earnest and enthusiastic manner in which he showed the necessity of immediate and united action on the part of the citizens if they expect Corvallis to take the position she ought to occupy as a business center and urged the committees just appointed to do their duty

Ralston Cox then made a few remarks on the advisability of advertising Corvallis Considerable discussion followed and finally on motion the chair appointed a committee of three consisting of Ralston Cox W A Wells and I Avery to inquire into the best and most feasible means of attracting attention toward Corvallis, and report at the next meeting Adjourned

NOTES OF IMPROVEMENTS

The electric light company have purchased land on the river front and will at once begin the construction of quarters for their new plant The large new boiler has arrived and a fifty horse-power engines ordered The city council at its meeting this week ordered that the number of lights in the streets be doubled

Fred Blumhardt will erect on ice factory adjoining the electric light works and will be prepared to fill orders the coming summer

While Corvallis is having no boom in the general acceptation of the term there is great enthusiasm among her citizens over the bright prospects Over $500 was raised in a few hours for advertising, the city

A REDWOOD TREE THEIR HOME.

A Family From Oregon Said to Dwell in a Living Tree.

HEALDSBURG, Cal., Dec. 15.—[Special Telegram.]—Near this town in a large high redwood tree, a family consisting of a man, his wife and three children, have taken up their residence. A few days ago a hunter was attracted to the spot by the sound of voices, and, approaching, he found the family. To close the opening in the tree a rude door had been constructed of deer skins. Inside the tree benches and tables had been constructed of redwood bark, fastened together by wooden pins. The head of the family stated that he came from Oregon last fall and not being able to pay rent for a house, had moved his family into this living home. He had thus far made a living by odd jobs on farms near by, being careful never to state where his home was. The boy was dressed in a suit of coon skins. The mother bore the appearance of a once beautiful woman, and her speech showed she had been well educated. They were a very reticent about their former life, and how they had been reduced to such straits. They expect to spend the winter in this sylvan home.

A JAIL BREAK.

Four Burglars Confined in Olympia Regain Their Freedom.

OLYMPIA, Dec. 15.—This morning four prisoners broke out of the county jail. It came near being a general delivery, as all the prisoners escaped except one who was in the steel cell, and George T. Smith, who was recently brought from San Francisco on an extradition warrant and who refused to go, saying he preferred to stay and await his trial, which takes place next month. The escaped prisoners were awaiting trial on a charge of burglary, and the evidence against them was conclusive. They cut away the wooden lining of the jail and with a poker dug a hole in the wall large enough to permit the passage of a man, and when all was quiet made their exit. No alarm was given by the remaining prisoners and the escape was not discovered until morning, when the keeper made his rounds. Sheriff Billings and a posse of men are in close pursuit.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S EXCURSION RATE.

The Northern Pacific Railroad Company place in effect to be used only on December 24, December 25, December 31 and January 1 an excursion rate of one and one-fifth fare for the round trip between all local points west of Spokane Falls, inclusive, restricting destination of ticket to a distance of 200 miles or less from point at which ticket is sold.

The object of this rate is to accommodate the many people who would perhaps like to take a short trip during the holidays, but see no special reason for so doing unless some inducement is offered in the way of railroad fare.

Tickets will be sold only on dates above stated, and will be limited to January 3 for the return trip.

BRIEF MENTION.

Do not buy a cheap piano when you can get the very best for the same money. H. Sinsheimer, the well-known music dealer at 214 First street, has just received an immense shipment of the famous Steinway & Son's and Chickering & Son's pianos—the best instruments in the world. He also carries the only high-grade organ—the Burdett. He is the only Portland music dealer who buys direct from the factories for cash only.

COAL! COAL! COAL!

Telephone No. 81, or send your orders for household coal to the Oregon Improvement Company. We have constantly on hand, at bunkers at foot of H street, a full supply of Seattle, Franklin, Wilmington, Australian, Scotch splint and anthracite coals. Our prices always the lowest. Orders left at Wisdom Drug Company, First and Stark streets, will receive prompt attention.

$15 PANTS FOR $10—AT KOEN'S.

250 imported pantaloon patterns will be made to order and fit guaranteed at $10 50 a pair. Kuhn is determined to close out his merchant tailoring department and now is the time to get bargains, at corner Second and Morrison streets.

PORTLAND MONDAY, DEC. 16.

A "DEAD ISSUE," AND A LIVE ONE

Several newspapers in various parts of the state continue to talk about the contest in the last legislature over the Portland water bonds One of these journals says The bonds should have been sold in New York or Europe, not in Portland In New York or Europe it would have made no difference whether they were exempt from taxation or not Governor Pennoyer not only did the right thing in the abstract in defeating this great swindle but he did the tax payers and water consumers of Portland a double service He is especially entitled to their gratitude The water consumers of Portland see the matter in another light However it is a dead issue" Portland is spending a larger amount of money to pump more Willamette water and to convey it to the city She cannot afford to throw these works away, so the Bull run scheme will not trouble our country friends further We don't pretend to like Willamette water, but since we are compelled to use it we are making preparations for permanent and ample supply They who have forced us to accept the sewage of the Willamette valley as our everlasting drink are not, however, regarded as entitled to gratitude here especially to the gratitude of the poorer classes of our people, who can't afford us the riches do to have pure spring water brought in vessels to their houses every day

But though Portland is settling down to the permanent use of Willamette water, and further discussion of the quality hereof isn't profitable, a remark may be made on a feature of a question that was started in the debate about the bonds, since this particular feature may have application to other matters of importance in the development of the state We have been told that bonds issued for public purposes in Oregon ought to be sold to the Eastern states or to Europe, that they ought not to be sold to residents of our state and that one of the good results of insisting on their taxation at home is that they cannot be kept in the state, but must be sent abroad They who argue in this manner are in great fear lest capitalists of Oregon may make profits out of the bonds but they are quite willing that capitalists of San Francisco New York or Europe shall make profits out of them THE OREGONIAN thinks on the contrary that it is better for Oregon that resident capitalists should make profits out of financial transactions in our state than that these profits should be thrown into the lap of foreign capitalists In the one case the wealth of the state would be increased, in the other it is drained off to California, to the Eastern states or to foreign countries But we have in Oregon large numbers of people who would prefer that money be made in Boston in New York, in San Francisco, in London—anywhere—rather than in a town or city of our own state A great foreign capitalist is not an object of envy our good people are willing to add to his vast riches But a small local capitalist is regarded as a bad man He mustn't be permitted to make money, if anybody can prevent it. He has no right to be richer than his neighbor All that he has accumulated he has filched from others Our people don't want any man in Oregon to have wealth enough to enable him to subscribe for the bonds of a city or to execute any great work They want all the profits of these transactions made in the Eastern states or in Europe Hence the study all the time is how to prevent anybody in Oregon from making money The effect is seen in the long stagnation of affairs in our state

This is the philosophy that prevails in Oregon and controls the policy of our state In opposition to it THE OREGONIAN believes that if conditions were made favorable to investment of money here, that if capitalists, instead of being regarded as public enemies, were allowed, as elsewhere, a free field, that if certain no lons prevailing among us were changed so that it could be thought better that profits should be made in Oregon rather than elsewhere, the state would be a gainer and a new life for it would begin Thus change will come sometime, perhaps; but it is weary waiting. Meantime note how an enlightened state like Washington makes progress that puts Oregon to shame!

WINDOM'S SILVER PLAN

There is something pleasantly entertaining for the philosophical observer whose sense of humor is not obscured by pride of opinion in the gingerly fashion in which statesmen and newspapers of the orthodox school of finance treat the proposition of Mr Windom for a new issue of silver certificates based upon the market value of bullion deposited in the treasury The truth is we discover that we all know a great deal less about the effect upon the national finances and commercial business of the injection of a mass of silver into the monetary circulation than we thought we did ten years ago The evil consequences that were expected to follow the coinage of silver have not yet arrived though nearly three hundred millions of standard dollars are in the treasury and represented by silver certificates in the monetary circulation This tends to inculcate a certain modesty in those of us who sounded the alarm so resonantly in 1878 and 1879 True, the principles and laws of money, credit and trade are immutable and are as sound and sure in their application now as they were then But it is just as true that we were mistaken in our practical application of them to existing circumstances and conditions Silver certificates have circulated side by side with notes redeemable in gold The cheaper metal has not driven the dearer out of the country The purchasing power of our money may have declined with the increase of its volume, though this is barely and dubiously perceptible But the purchasing power of the silver dollar is still equal to that of the gold All this is true notwithstanding that the opposite consequences of the coinage of silver predicted by the advocates of the new currency have equally failed of realization The value of silver instead of appreciating has steadily declined We are no nearer an international agreement for the restoration of silver to a place among the money metals of the world than we were ten years ago The whole history of our silver coinage is a grim yet humorous commentary upon the fallacy of human reasoning and the impotence of human endeavor, in the interpretation and guidance of those obscure but certain operations of natural law, which dominate the social as surely as the physical life of the world

Without abandoning their belief in the soundness and certainty of the approved laws of finance, the newspapers and public men who resisted the coinage of silver ten years ago realize that their operation in this particular case has been checked or delayed by causes beyond our discernment then and not clearly comprehended now This realization leads to their present attitude in relation to silver legislation a modesty that amounts to something like indecision It is remarkable that all the positive opinions elicited by the announcement of Mr Windom's plan come from the silver men These gentlemen are no afflicted with intellectual modesty They know what they think and what they want. What they think is free from bias by the accumulated stock of the world's thought and knowledge on subjects of finance, and what they want is unqualified by any afterthought of its probable effect upon public and private interests. They want free coinage of silver and they will be satisfied with nothing less This is the attitude of Mr Bland and probably of Senator Stewart and it is the view reflected by the newspapers published west of the Missouri river which draw their inspiration from silver mine owners and speculators These are all agreed in repudiating Windom's plan as a delusion and a snare let the whose adoption thereof would defer instead of bringing nearer their anticipated millennium of free coinage The attitude of the anti silver newspapers and statesmen who have spoken on the subject ranges from pure nonsense mildism to cautious and half hearted approval Such newspapers as the New York Times and Evening Post echo the cautious judgment of prominent republican members of congress, that the measure promises good results and is worth considering at any rate Nobody goes much further than this The plan has found no support half so positive and earnest as the opposition of the silver men But it is at least certain of a patient hearing and respectful consideration from the instructed and conservative part of the press and public, as well as from the same element in the national congress

A CHANCE FOR A TARIFF BILL

The outlook for practical revenue legislation at this session of congress is a good deal better than it seemed the day Reed was nominated for speaker of the house of representatives The early appointment of the ways and means committee is a good omen, and the make up of he committee itself is favorable Speaker Reed justified the best expectations entertained of him by making McKinley chairman It is all very well to say he couldn't help himself There was no bargain in advance and a small and mean man can always do a small and mean thing if he chooses Not being small or mean Reed not only did the large and manly thing but did it in a large and manly way He gave McKinley not only the chairmanship, but practically the committee The republican membership though respectable is not strong The chairman will have little rivalry in the studious work of framing legislation or in the practical labor of getting it through the house Burrows and Bayne will attitudinize on the floor but they will let McKinley do the work The tariff bill will be in the main his bill It is hinted that the absolute freedom of action of the committee is limited in only two respects that Reed has recognized his obligations to the Southern representatives who deserted McKinley for him, by giving the committee a majority against free sugar and in favor of the repeal of the tobacco tax This is not likely to create discord between the chairman and the republican membership McKinley was apparently satisfied with the reduction of the sugar tariff made by the senate bill last winter and he is pretty definitely committed to the principle of tobacco tax repeal The minority membership of the committee will neither help nor hinder much the work of making a tariff bill though it is as a whole, intellectually stronger than the majority and qualified to render valuable assistance in the effective work of readjusting schedules and fixing duties But it is made up of three rank democratic free traders, one extreme internal revenue repeal man (McMillin) and one amiable non entity (Flower) The differences of principle between the majority and minority are probably so great as to prevent any effective co operation or any practical assistance from the latter in the real work of preparing a tariff bill The majority must do this work, and McKinley will do most of it

Nobody is better fitted for it McKinley has been for years an acknowledged authority in congress on subjects of tariff and revenue Beginning as the representative of the extreme Pennsylvania school he has gradually emancipated himself from its narrowness of view and limitations of action It is probable not only that he is better instructed upon subjects connected with the tariff than any other man in public life, but that he is better able than any other to balance the conflicting claims of different sections classes and interests and legislate for the greatest good of the greatest number than any other politician in either party He is a Western man, with Western sympathies, who still has the confidence and respect of the manufacturing and producing interests of the East and South There is probably no man in congress whom the Western farmer and miner, the Eastern manufacturer and the Southern planter could so easily agree to trust with tariff legislation as McKinley This is a good omen for the successful completion of some kind of a bill It is still too soon to forecast the nature of it, but certain leading features may be predicted with certainty It will reform the administrative features of the law and make less easy the undervaluation frauds in the New York custom house which have systematically robbed the revenue for a long term of years and—what in the long run, is worse—gives the importers of that city an immense dishonest advantage over those of every other part of the country The New York importers have exercised a weird and mysterious influence before now over ways and means committees as well as over secretaries of the treasury The make up of this committee should distinctly free it from influence of that sort The bill will reduce the revenues, whether or no If this can be done by a revision of tariff schedule acceptable to the committee and the house the whisky tax will be spared though the tobacco tax and that on spirits used in the arts will probably have to go An honest effort will be made to reduce the burden of the tariff upon the consumer of the country, without sacrificing the principle of protection to home industry The consumer will have a hearing in the committee as well as the manufacturer The New England manufacturers who want free raw materials will have to wait for a democratic house to give it to them but McKinley will go as far as Mills in removing the burdens from articles of home consumption where it can be done without distinct injustice to local interests Probably the features of the new schedules will be a reduction of from one third to one half on sugar, an increase of the free list by the addition of articles not produced or manufactured here a judicious reduction of duties on articles of consumption produced here under circumstances favorable enough to enable them to bear it, and an occasional additional increase in duties on home products like wool and metals sacrificed by the tariff of 1883 and subsequent treasury interpretation to the interest of the manufacturer Such a bill as this would be acceptable to congress and the country

THE PROOFS OF GUILT

The Cronin case is called one of circumstantial evidence Circumstantial evidence may include and not seldom does include the strongest proofs of guilt Suppose a murder is accomplished by poison In the vast majority of cases nobody sees the poison administered or has any personal sight of the fatal potion In many such cases the conviction if obtained at all must be procured through circumstantial evidence The motive the opportunity of the suspected party the procuration of the poison by which the victim perished are about all that the law can deal with in the trial of the suspect There was a noted case where a man was convicted and hung for murder upon the identity of his handwriting with the handwriting upon certain pawn tickets representing the dead victim's jewelry and other property and with the signature of a assumed name upon the hotel register This evidence was of the strongest kind to connect the accused with the murder, although no proof was obtained that he had ever seen the victim in the flesh The evidence of the murder by means of the poison was very weak or it may be the very strongest kind of evidence for when it is strong it is clouded by no chance of perjured testimony or mistaken identity

In the Cronin case the so called circumstantial evidence is exceedingly strong Dr Cronin is professionally summoned at night and from that hour is never seen alive again He is summoned by a man driving a white horse and representing that he comes from O'Sullivan an iceman to whom Cronin is under contract as a physician The man who drove the buggy cannot be found but it was known that Coughlin one of the accused recommended this particular white horse and rig be lent to a friend of his on this occasion The doctor's body is found in a catch basin near Lake View The question is by whom was he murdered and where? A cottage near the iceman's place was mysteriously rented before Cronin's disappearance and suddenly abandoned thereafter It was not used as a domicile and the iceman O'Sullivan under whose contract the doctor was deceived to his death vouched for the responsibility of the mysterious tenant whom he knew After the evacuation of this cottage blood stains hastily daubed with paint were found on the floor, and blood stains were on the front steps The man who rented this cottage was Burke who was taken at Winnipeg while fleeing from the country A blood stained trunk found by the wayside and a cheap satchel fished from the sewer and containing Cronin's blood stained clothes were identified as sold to the same parties who bought the furniture for the cottage On the night of Cronin's disappearance a poor woman who was passing this mysterious cottage saw a white horse driven up and a tall man leave the buggy and enter the cottage Then he heard a cry of agony On the same evening Kunze drove Coughlin to this house

This is a brief summary of the evidence submitted by the state as we condense it from the Chicago Times It is not direct evidence but will any candid man say it was not strong enough to establish the guilt of the accused? It is circumstantial but it is an unbroken chain of circumstances that justify conviction The state cannot prove who struck the blow that killed Cronin but it has proved that O'Sullivan summoned the doctor to a cottage rented by Burke, it has proved that the man who drove Cronin to his doom was vouched for by Coughlin, it has proved that Coughlin was in this cottage the night of the murder and strongest of all it has proved that the blood stained trunk and the satchel which contained Cronin's clothes and instruments were delivered with other furniture at the cottage rented by Burke and abandoned by him after the murder when he started to flee the country This last bit of evidence is so conclusive as to the guilt of the accused that no offered alibi could upset it Indirect and circumstantial though the evidence be it forms as complete a chain of proof of guilt as any honest man could desire It makes it as certain who are the parties having guilty knowledge and responsibility of Cronin's murder as if they had been seen to slay him and thrust his body and his clothing into the not one sewer If these men do not hang it will be only because some jury fixer" has succeeded in planting a corrupt scoundrel or two in the box and if these Chicago miscreants escape in this way it will go far to damn the whole jury system with the people and lead them to reform it to the extent of the new states which per mit a clear majority of the jury to convict

Notwithstanding the fact that the United States mints are coining millions of pennies every year, the treasury department is unable to supply the demand Since the coinage of pennies was established in 1793 the mints have turned out 800,000 000 of these coins. About one eighth of these have been redeemed and remelted, leaving something like 700 000 000 still in circulation Of the cumbersome old copper cents, over 150 000, 000 were originally issued and of these 37 000 000 have been redeemed under the act of 187- remelted and minted in the more popular form Although one of these old coins is seldom seen there are still 120 000 000 of them outstanding Enormous as is the number of pennies in circulation they do not comprise the government's stock of small change afloat as there are 60 000 000 bronze 2 cent pieces over 30 000 000 3 cent pieces and 200,000 000 5 cent nickels out The demand for small change in the South has steadily increased for the past few years —an indication it is assumed of a thoughtfulness in financial details that is necessary to lift a people from poverty to competence

The Cronin jury made no sign yesterday and it is believed will have postponed further consideration of the verdict to a secular day Judge and prosecutor alike, as in duty bound deprecate the attributing of improper motive to the stubborn juror It is now reported that the man who is making all the trouble is a very respectable citizen named Culver who is quite above any suspicion of corruption If Mr Culver cannot see his way to convict Burke and Coughlin on the evidence laid before him in the trial, he is not using which average public opinion esteems lower than a knave

New York prefers darkness to death and has taken the electric light bull by the horns at last The gingerly policy which has been pursued against the companies has been abandoned and imperfectly insulated wires have been ruthlessly torn down The consequence is that important parts of the city are left in comparative darkness but this is a cheap price to pay for security to human life The price need not be paid long, as soon as the companies realize that the city is in earnest, means will be found to convey the wires into the subways and the lights will be restored

The silver men in congress have determined to ignore Windom's plan entirely and frame a bill of their own either for free coinage or the compulsory coinage of the maximum of 4 000 000 standard dollars per month Between half hearted, indifferent approval on one side of the silver controversy and contemptuous letting alone on the other, Mr Windom's plan is not likely to cut much figure in this session of congress It is ingeniously enough worked out to deserve a better fate than that which seems to await it

America comes out triumphant in another international affair Miss Caldwell has brought Prince Murat to her feet He has made an abject surrender of his claims to control of her fortune and agrees to marry her on her own terms relying upon her generosity to keep him in pin money It is gratifying to know that Prince Murat expresses the highest admiration for Miss Caldwell's independence of character One does not know which of the future happy pair to envy most

The last of the humors of the Sullivan Kilrain prize fight is the conviction of Kilrain in a Mississippi court of the crime of assault and battery and his sentence to a light fine and imprisonment Fancy the wrath of Sullivan when he heard that the man he pounded all over the ring has been tried convicted and punished for making a felonious assault upon him

Judge Gibbs a Sudden Illness—Oregon Products to Go East—Consumption of Gas—The Value of Timber on Land

Grace Methodist Episcopal church dedicated their beautiful and commodious sanctuary at Tenth and Taylor streets yesterday at 11 A M The society enters its new edifice practically free from debt except a matter of $10 000, which other property amply covers The services were conducted by the pastor Rev Ross C Houghton D D and a number of visiting clergymen, among whom was the former pastor of the church Rev J W Caswell Exercises were also held in the evening

The corner stone of Grace church was laid ten months ago Saturday under a dismal sky in a flurry of snow and raindrops and a chilly wind But upon its dedication day the sun shone undimmed, the air was clear and calm, even for an Oregon day with a perceptible biting touch of frost According to the pastor who has been the added burden of the building effort with the common duties of his charge great hindered officers of the church many of them business men crowded with daily duties, who have followed with tent and love the church from its storm cradle an extensive valley rich in agricultural and mineral wealth Its influence women whose warm hearts and deft fingers have had their own quiet but effective ministry and little children who proudly brought their two bit pieces for the offering, and who will remember to tell their children the day when their heads have grown gray and their forms are bowed with long years of service in the cause of the church A profusion of flowers surrounded the rostrum great collections of calla lilies being prominent. In full seating capacity of the auditorium was turned and all available space was utilized by the introduction of chairs in the aisles

Promptly at eleven o'clock the new pipe organ under the skillful playing of Mrs Maria A Smith sounded the opening strains of Handel's Alleluia and the pastor Rev Ross C Houghton as ended the steps of the altar accompanied by Rev M C Wire presiding elder Rev E W Caswell the former pastor of the church Rev L D Driver Rev W S Harrington and Rev G W Isom All occupied seats behind the pulpit.

A choir of thirty two voices, under the leadership of Professor A Dobie sang the opening anthem Behold What Manner of Love from Mendelssohn's oratorio of St Paul.

OPENING ANNOUNCEMENT

The pastor likened the situation of the church to Jacob when, after his wrestling with the angel the sun rose on him as he passed over Penuel. It has passed over Penuel he said, 'and now the sun has risen on us. He was glad that Rev Caswell and Izer had been able to be present The arrangements for the dedication had been of necessity hastily made and one of the bishops who had meant to be present, had been prevented by sickness from doing so The project of having the exercises in the afternoon had been abandoned as it had been feared that the auditorium would not accommodate all who would desire to be present. The only special invitations issued were for the morning dedicatory service was then read from the ritual followed by the hymn sung to Duke Street '

Enter thy temple glorious King!
And write thy name upon its shrine
Thy peace to shed, thy joy to bring,
And seal its courts forever thine

which was given out by Dr Izer

Rev E W Caswell offered prayer The petition was fervent and eloquent He referred with great feeling to the history of the church, the chapel the tabernacle, and rejoiced that blessing had already descended upon the place where the building now stands He prayed that as the material temple had been raised, so the spiritual temple, which eyes can not see, and whose songs ears may not hear, may keep pace with the earthly edifice and that ministering spirits may never cease their blessed errands between earth and heaven.

Miss Lalla Dalton who shared the duty at the organ, played and the choir sang Farmer's dedication anthem, 'I Was Glad When They Said Unto Me'

Rev M C Wire read the story of Solomon's sacrifice at the temple, from II Chronicles 6 and 7, and Dr W S Harrington from Hebrews 9 19 26 inclusive. Dr L D Driver gave out the hymn We rear not a temple like Judah's of old,
Whose portals were marble, whose vaultings were gold
No incense is lighted no victims are slain
No monarch kneels praying to hallow the fane

DEDICATORY SERMON

The pastor then delivered the dedicatory sermon, which was listened to with rapt attention by the vast audience The full text of Dr. Houghton's address will appear in these columns to morrow. The sermon was concluded with prayer

BUSINESS ANNOUNCEMENT

The pastor stated that it had been expected to dedicate the church free from debt. The purchase of property had been provided for by the society in subscriptions as good as cash But after buying the lots $4 000 of this was paid for, and receiving the subscriptions of a year and a half ago it was found that the society would be owing some $30 000

Of this the church had decided to raise $20 000, and leave a debt of $10,000 which was small in view of the value of the property An opportunity was then given for pledges to be made on a basis of four semi annual payments For this purpose cards were then circulated through the congregation and a collection taken up at the conclusion of which preceding the pastor announced that the $20 000 is almost all now provided for He spoke highly of the liberality with which the members of the society had contributed to the building fund.

PRESENTATION BY THE TRUSTEES

The nine trustees of the church, J K Gill, A W Oliver J E Haseltine J F Clark, J J Meston, J A Child W C Noon E W Cornell and F S Akin, then went forward to the altar, and the responsive dedicatory service was read the trustees gave the church to God and the pastor accepted the gift in behalf of the congregation

The choir and congregation joined in the doxology and Rev E W Caswell pronounced the benediction

RESUME OF GRACE CHURCH

The history of Grace church is, for the most part the history of a thousand similar institutions throughout the United States It is a record of cherished plans modified to fit smaller means of already large contributions heroically doubled to fit cherished plans, of planning and work by trustees and women and planning by ladies' societies of struggles, oftimes under great disadvantages, but always forward under that destiny that shapes our ends, until the capstone is laid, and grateful hearts assemble to dedicate to God the work of their hands

Work was begun under the present contract for the building on the 22d of last August. The corner stone was laid with the assistance of Bishop Warren February 14 last. According to the original plans the structure was to cost $40 000 but added expenses have swelled the figures considerably beyond that sum The building is 95x75 feet The audience room is perfectly square, 64x64 feet exclusive of the gallery The seating capacity of the audience room is 580 capacity of the gallery 250 total, 780 The lower story of the church is of stone and contains a lecture room church parlors Sunday school rooms and kitchen Underneath the first floor is the basement, where are placed the heating apparatus, fuel, etc.

In general architecture design and appearance the building comes under the colonial The main tower is principally of stone also the front and transept to the audience room which is in the style of an arched doorway With the lower story, tower and main entrance constructed of stone, and the woodwork superstructure of a style corresponding the general air and effect of the edifice is that of a stone building throughout The main entrance is on Taylor street by a grade of that thoroughfare enabling the audience room to be reached by a short flight of stairs Besides the audience room the main floor contains the pastor's study and social reception rooms

The large pipe organ, which is the gift of Mrs M A Smith, of Portland, proves to be a valuable addition to the features of the auditorium The acoustic properties of the room are remarkably good the most quiet utterance from the pulpit being distinctly audible from all parts of the house.

THE EVENING EXERCISES

The following programme of exercises was observed in the evening at the church The sermon by Rev C W Izer D D a former pastor of the Taylor Street church for four years, was one of great eloquence and power Dr Izer expressed his great gratification at being able to be present at the dedication

THE DEBT CLOSED UP

The offering at the evening service was sufficient to make up the balance of the $20,000 yet owing and thus all encumbrances upon the church site and building is removed The $10 000 debt upon another property owned by the society in Portland the method of the collections, both morning and evening commends itself to those who have sat through long sieges of importuning upon similar occasions There was no urging whatever and all the offerings were spontaneous with the gifts.

ARRIVAL OF THE DELAYED TRAINS.

How the Passengers Amused Themselves—Blockade of the Sacramento—Mail by the Wholesale

The two belated California trains which were delayed in consequence of the washouts in the vicinity of Red Bluff and Marysville, arrived in Portland yesterday One of the trains arrived at 4 30 in the morning and the other at about 10 40 The passengers on both trains were glad to get through so soon No inconveniences were experienced during the delay, and all seemed to themselves well satisfied with the treatment they received at the hands of the company They took their lot good naturedly, and are thankful that they were not detained longer.

"Plenty to eat," said one of the drummers who was on the Sun train and a good rest. We amused ourselves with cards, and speculated on the length of the delay. When we got tired of playing cards, we went out to look over the country Would I mind a rest in real estate? for we thought that some of the Seattle lots lands had floated down and we are not given to dealing in uncertainties

Mr S A Hol of New York was on the train that encountered the washouts first. Speaking to a reporter at Portland yesterday afternoon, he said:

I left San Francisco Tuesday morning for Sacramento On Thursday the Sacramento river kept rising until it reached a depth of twenty seven feet I was told that this was the greatest depth in the memory of any one living in the city Crowds of people throughout all day watching the river as it gradually rose, wondering when the high water mark would be reached Towards evening the water broke over the levee and some of the principal streets were flooded Then there came the break in the river at a point nearly opposite the city The water rushed out, sweeping everything before it, and in a short time the country back looked like one vast lake. Timbers and portions of build ngs were floating about, but no lives were lost, and, as far as known no stock either The rise kept gradually receding until about Friday noon, by which time it had fallen seventeen feet

Our train which carried three sleepers and three regular passenger coaches all well filled, including a baggage and express coaches, reached a small town above Red Bluff at 6 o clock Friday morning and we remained there until about 8 o clock in the evening We had plenty to eat as the train was provided with buffet accommodations and there was a good hotel in the place. The large bridge at Red Bluff was washed away, and considerable time was consumed in replacing that A construction train took over about forty hands, but all told over 100 men must have been at work there The superintendent of the road told me that at least six or ten hours were lost in getting material from Sacramento If the bridge material had been handy the repairs could have been made much quicker A number of small bridges between Red Bluff and Marysville were also washed away but only a little time was lost in replacing them After we left Red Bluff we came through without any further delays We got along much better than we expected

DELAYED MAIL.

Three days' mail, delayed by the washouts in Northern California, arrived here yesterday Two days mail, which was on the first train delayed and which was sent around by Ogden, will arrive here today Quite a long string of people at the carriers' and general delivery windows yesterday which put one in mind of auto free delivery days and the times when the mail came by steamer once in a while

SUDDEN ILLNESS OF JUDGE GIBBS

In His Absence, the Pulpit of the Zion A M E Church Was Filled by Rev T. Brown

Judge M E Gibbs who was announced to deliver an address at the Zion A M E church, at the corner of Main and Eleventh streets last evening was forced to disappoint the large audience which had gathered to listen to him through sudden illness, which prostrated him yesterday afternoon He had to be carried to his room at No 106 8 xth street, where he still lies in a very precarious condition The illness is supposed to be a direct result of the nervous strain and worry occasioned by his attendance on his son's trial A physician is in attendance, and everything possible is being done to relieve his illness He was slightly better last night, but there are still doubts as to his recovery

In the absence of Judge Gibbs the meeting was addressed by Rev T Brown, the regular pastor Rev Brown chose for the subject of his discourse "The Biblical and Historical Proofs of the Colored Man's Fidelity" He took for his text Jeremiah xxxvii 1-13 and Jeremiah xxxix 15-18. The speaker briefly reviewed the history of the colored race through the past sixty centuries, and showed in what manner the people distinguished themselves for their fidelity Coming down to the period of the late civil war, he cited many special acts of bravery which demonstrated this race characteristic still more forcibly He showed that throughout the history of his people fidelity to country and to race were ever predominant traits. Rev Brown speaks with considerable force and eloquence, and never fails to interest his hearers.

Judge Caples followed in a brief address during which he laid special stress on the honorable role enacted by the colored people in the late war When the colored people begin to be proud of their race, said he, it is an unmistakable indication of their advancement and culture.

Some excellent music by the choir and the entire congregation and a collection closed the exercises of the evening The church was crowded to the doors All regretted that the eminent colored jurist, Judge Gibbs was not able to address them, and still they all felt well paid for their attendance.

The Willing Workers an auxiliary composed of the ladies of the church with Mrs. R. C. Bruce as president, will have the church closed this week for repairs and purpose to have the walls and ceiling kalsomined the windows frosted and to otherwise ornament the interior with the funds raised by them in giving various public entertainments

OREGON PRODUCTS WILL HAVE A SHOW.

They Will Form Part of the "Agricultural, Mineral and Mechanical Exhibit

Mr John Gilman who was here about a month since and made arrangements for a carload of products of this state to form a part of the great "agricultural, mineral and mechanical show on wheels" which he intends to exhibit in every principal city of the East next year returned here yesterday He says his exhibit will consist of eighteen carloads Oregon, Washington and Idaho will have one each and California probably three Mr. Gilman leaves for that state today to arrange for their exhibit. He has arranged that a car load horse show shall be held in each of the cities he will visit during the time the train is there and he will stay from four to six days in each place. The train will start out next May and will visit the cities on this coast first, and then go East and South winding up at Washington Oregon will now have her productions placed on view alongside those of other states and it behooves all loyal citizens to see to it that the best possible exhibit is made

MAY BECOME NATIONAL

The Shipping Rendezvous of the Pacific Coast Anticipated

The increased congressional and senatorial power that follows the advent of the several new states means a power of strength to the whole Northwest. The concentration of its strength with a view to the restoration of American's shipping interests means the establishment of marine commerce that will benefit the commercial centers of the United States. The inference should not be drawn from the above that only the Northwest is interested in this all important subject The Atlantic coast will share alike with the Pacific in this work hence the feeling, that where one vessel now plows the ocean there should be a dozen such flying the American flag Each year brings additional acreage under agricultural subjection and the products of these acres to a marked extent must find outlet via the ocean The annually increasing business with China and Japan together with that of this country centralizes at the most convenient point On the Sound and this part of the Pacific coast it is universally acknowledged that Port Townsend is this point The report of the custom house at Port Townsend for the past three years shows a startling increase in the receipts, and through this avenue the future Trade city seems destined to be eventually interwoven with the commercial interests of the country It is believed that the legislation of the present congress will name Port Townsend as the ten best ports of the Atlantic and Alaska trade to the extent of naming this city as the initial shipping point and as receiving the incoming foreign cargoes. Anyway a belief prevails that this is the inevitable outcome of the present agitation of subsidy which carries with it the thought that Port Townsend will become an important distributing point in the United States mail service of the near future

GAS CONSUMPTION INCREASES

The Introduction of Electricity for Lighting Purposes Does Not Stop It

Since the introduction of the electric light our production has increased instead of diminished, said a prominent official of the gas company

Why? Well there are different reasons There is the growth of the city which of course creates added demand and then there is the introduction of gas stoves which are becoming quite popular, not so much here as in other places In Oakland for instance there are, I suppose fully 1,500 families using gas stoves as they find them cheaper than coal or wood

Has the introduction of electric light tended to diminish gas consumption?

It certainly has in some directions but in others the opposite has been the effect The electric light has an important field, and has some of courses to stay Gas and electricity each have their limitations.

But a wholly unexpected effect of the introduction of arc lights is the added demand for gas where the other is used. Take New York city where electric lighting is at its greatest perfection Instead of lessening gas consumption the latter has increased 20 per cent. every year Both mouths since it was put in. The increase here is 25 per cent more gas than in 1888, in two months in very simple People are becoming accustomed to more light. The stores are lighted as never before One man has an all night electric light in his store, his neighbor lets his gas burn The contrast of the arc lights makes others burn more gas in their houses where people live, such as hotels, boarding houses etc., burn more gas than ever before since the electric light. I well remember the case of a leading hotel keeper He was complaining bitterly grieved that his gas bill was larger than before the put in the arc lights. So one of our lamp men went around with him one evening to the room. The landlord made some excuse to get out of the room and found that nearly every gas jet in the house was burning at full blast. His wife was there with one or two jets had formerly been used by guest for his evening light and are now used in this room directly out of the glare of the arc lights, the rooms seems dark with only the gas jets, and he soon lost them all together.

"Yes, we propose a reduction in the price of gas in the near future. Just how much is not yet determined We have changed our process from time to time and are now using the most improved methods known We have never tried any good substitute for the Australian coal."

HOW MUCH IS THE TIMBER WORTH.

The Question Discussed as to the Value of Forest, Per Acre, for Lumber, Etc.

Speaking of the value of timber lands in Oregon, so many thousands of acres of which have been gobbled up of late and are still being gobbled by Eastern capital ists, in ways and by means which it would require much space to explain, several persons more or less acquainted with the matter became involved in quite an animated discussion yesterday

To form an estimate of the average value of timber lands in this state, a vast extent of territory and great diversity of circumstances must be taken into consideration, and it would seem as if it were impossible to get at the average value of the timber on an acre. In taking a practical view of the matter, however many of the difficulties disappear These timber land speculators are not selecting average timber land, but are selecting and getting the best of it. The average of a piece of good timber land is not over a certain suitable for rafting may be put down at $1 per acre, and where the logs have to be hauled some distance to water at 50 cents a log.

As to the number of trees on an acre, one of the men arguing the question said he had counted tracts of timber where there were fifty trees to the acre many of which would measure 200 feet each' "There are many acres on it," he said, "and many acres in a section of the best timber which will yield much less."

After some considerable discussion it was agreed that on good timber land such as is selected by lumber grabbers, twenty trees to the acre was a fair average The average amount of timber to a tree was put at 5000 feet. Now if there are twenty trees to the acre and 5000 feet to a tree there will be 100,000 feet, worth standing, from 50 cents to $1 per thousand making the average of selected timber lands worth $50 to $100 per acre, not counting the land Of course there are sections which will yield much more and others which would yield much less per acre, and there are good timber lands, which are inaccessible at present, when the stumpage is not worth 50 cents per thousand feet, but instead of lessening gas consumption the latter has increased 20 per cent. every year Both mouths since it was put in. The increase here is 25 per cent more gas than in 1888, in two months in very simple People are becoming accustomed to more light. The stores are lighted as never before One man has an all night electric light in his store, his neighbor lets his gas burn The contrast of the arc lights makes others burn more gas in their houses where people live, such as hotels, boarding houses etc., burn more gas than ever before since the electric light. STIRRED AROUND ALBINA.

Regular Meeting of the Council—Filthy Cisterns—Busy Fingers—Skipped Out—Road Reorganized.

An adjourned meeting of the council the following business was transacted;

PETITIONS.

Mrs. Carrie Holm, asking for longer time within which to pay her street assessment on lot 6, block 20 San Antonio street; granted.

Mrs. Jennings, asking permission to carry on a laundry on Goldsmith street; referred to committee on health and police.

Dr. Joseph Richardson, asking for warrants for the amount of $2000 on Sellwood street improvement and $1000 on Rodney avenue improvement in sums of $250 each; granted.

Miss E. A. Whitney, asking that five warrants of $100 each be allowed him on Knott street improvement; granted.

Dr. Joseph Richardson, asking for a further warrant of $556 on Rodney avenue improvement; not granted.

The following claims were ordered paid:

Wm Parker & Co., lumber..... $27 50
Albina Courier..... 5 50
Clerical work..... 12 50

ORDINANCES.

Providing the time and manner of improving Albina avenue from Russell to Morris street; read first and second time.

Refixing the cost of improving Cardwell street from Bellwood to Morris street; read third time and passed.

VARIOUS MATTERS.

Surveyor Hurbart was ordered to make a survey with a view to opening Tillamook street in Albina addition.

The chief of police was instructed to cut off the branches of a tree on the corner of Harding and Delaware streets.

It was also instructed to investigate carefully and notify persons maintaining nuisances to abate the same, and if not done to report the same to the council.

The street committee was authorized to enter into contract with the lowest bidder for the construction of sidewalk on Kirby street in front of lots 2, Abend's addition. Adjourned.

A FILTHY CISTERN.

The attention of the council was called a short time ago to the condition of the cistern at the Albina school. A committee was appointed to investigate matters, and found the water foul and unfit to drink. It was then concluded to clean the cistern out, and the committee was recalled for that labor by fishing out a few dead rats, a cat and a dog. The committee began to think they fished much longer than they might a cow, from the fearful stench that arose as they began to near the bottom of the cistern. It is this neighborhood where malarial fever has been most severe, and also the most numerous cases of diphtheria.

LITTLE BUSY SINGERS.

A society of Merry Workers will hold a fair next Saturday evening under the Odd Fellows' hall on Russell street. This society is composed of a number of girls belonging to Sunday school and have been busy for some time preparing for the fair. Friends are invited to come and show their appreciation of the many useful as well as ornamental articles that will be for sale. A programme of appropriate exercises has been prepared to entertain the friends and patrons.

I. O. O. F. BALL.

The Odd Fellows will give their first ball, social and supper to-morrow evening. Elaborate preparations have been made to insure success, and it is safe to say odd fellows don't enjoy themselves unless they do. Manageable weather will not be any excuse for not attending, as the electric cars run every ten minutes to and from Portland to within one block of the hall. This will be quite an accommodation to the many who are expected to come from Portland and vicinity.

SKIPPED OUT.

Charley named Bower has been residing in Albina for several months. Bower was a laborer, and seemed to be busy most of the time. Last week, without any notice, he quietly skipped out, leaving his wife and child, besides numerous debts around the city. The wife is unable to account for his action, and as she is not very comfortably situated, she is left without any means of support.

REORGANIZED.

The Albina brass band has been taking a long vacation, and have now reorganized again with a membership of sixteen. They will meet hereafter every week at their old "tooting grounds" on Main above the fire engine hall.

Castle No 13, is taking in some members and adding their names to the roll.

Seattle, No 25 conferred Knight rank on two candidates at their last meeting.

Tacoma, No. 10 will confer first and second rank on four candidates tonight

Seattle, No 2 will have rank work next Thursday and the after dance will be large

D. D. J. A Ahlstedt will require the officers elect to have the secret work committed to memory before installation.

The officers of Ivanhoe, No 10 and Scandia, No 20, in setting the institution of being the banner lodges. Both are doing nobly.

Miss Ella L. Swanton of St. Paul, Minn., a young lady elocutionist, who comes here well recommended by prominent members in the East will give an entertainment at Castle hall Thursday evening.

The officers elected from the various lodges take unusual interest this term in learning the work and manifest a spirit of emulation that is gratifying in a high degree to District Deputy John A. Ahlstedt.

Excelsior, No 1 the mother lodge of all the lodges, feels proud to see that the other lodges are receiving so many members and hopes that it will not be long before Oregon will be the banner state of the order

FROM DAYTON.

Following are the officers elect of Dayton lodge No 8 K. of P.: Lars Nilson, C. E. H. Fox, C. C., M. M. Godman, V. C., E. Eager, P. M. S. Brown, M. of E. E. L. Dexter, M. of F. U. Z. Ellis, K. of R. and S.

UNIFORMED RANK.

The organization is having some very fine drills, and the membership is manifesting renewed interest. New members are constantly coming in. The meeting in Oatby on other annual election there will be a U. R. K. of P. in every place in the state of any size.

The United Workmen

Fidelity lodge will install their officers in public.

A. Noltner is chairman of the public installation committee

A. T. Wheeler, of Seattle, ex grand recorder, has been visiting in the city

Grand Recorder Clark made an official visit to Forest Grove lodge Saturday evening

Next Friday evening Hope lodge will give their grand ball and entertainment at Masonic hall

The Gate a fraternal paper, which was to have appeared this month will not be issued until the first of the year

The committee on public instal ation has the question still under consideration. No definite plan of action has been announced as yet

Grand Master Stephens, Medical Director Beaumont and other members of the order visited Fall's City lodge at Oregon City last Friday evening. About two hours were pleasantly whiled away with the brethren of that place.

A Good Name

At home is a tower of strength abroad is fully verified by the history of Hood's Sarsaparilla The first words of commendation and praise of this medicine were received from our friends and neighbors and from the time it was fairly introduced up to the present there has been a steadily increasing demand for it, and now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold in Lowell Mass where it is made than of all other sarsaparilas and blood purifiers combined. Whole neighborhoods are taking it at the same time and it has effected many remarkable cures in this city. The good name among people who have known Hood's Sarsaparilla and its proprietors for years should certainly be strong evidence to people in other cities and towns of the excellence and merit of this medicine

And that it has proven a tower of strength abroad, is shown by the wonderful increase in the sales of Hood's Sarsaparilla all over the country The public confidence has never been so quickly gained or so firmly held by any medicine as by Hood's Sarsaparilla.
